

Code of Civil Procedure, 1908

Section 137 - Language of Subordinate Courts

- (1) The language which, on the commencement of this Code, is the language of any Court subordinate to a High Court shall continue to be the language of such subordinate Court until the State Government otherwise directs.
  - (2) The State Government may declare what shall be the language of any such Court and in what character applications to and proceedings in such Courts shall be written.
  - (3) Where this Court requires or allows anything other than the recording of evidence to be done in writing in any such Court, such writing may be in English ; but if any party or his pleader is unacquainted with English a translation into the language of the Court shall, at his request, be supplied to him; and the Court shall make such order as it thinks fit in respect of the payment of the costs of such translation.
